Good Fellows Are Organized This Year as Usual to Prevent Tragedy of Empty Stocking.

VOLUNTEERS GOING TO WORK

Charitable Women Will Investigate Cases and Get Names, Ages and Addresses.

This is to show that all the Good Fellows are not dead.

The Goodfellows League is still alive. Last summer's suns and this winters northern blasts have been neither too hot nor to cold to dampen the ardor of the Goodfellows of Rushville and Rush county who plan this year, as in years past, to see that the little folks of Rushville, who are without prospect of a happy Christmas, shall be made merry at the glad season of the year.

Several of the Good Fellows, charter members of the League, have inquired already this year if the League is still in good running order, if its radiator is frozen up or something of the sort. The reply has invariably been that the League is on the alert and ready to serve the litle ones who are doomed t disappointment on Christmas morning if some friendly Good Fellow does not come to their aid.

. Several charitable women have Tolunteered their services this year to investigate cases and get the nams, ages and addresses of children in homes where there is small probability of them having a surprise in store on the morning of the day that is the anniversary of the birth of Christ. They have gladly offered their services, but one or two more would be of much service to the League if they would volunteer because they would greatly lessen the work of those who have already agreed to help.

It is requested by the League that any persons who contemplate making possibly a merry Christmas for some children call the he was forty years old. The wound was considered very severe but no serious results are anticipated.

Fire destroys $600,000 worth of property each day in the United States and Canada.

Much of this is caused by carelessness-because people do not think.

Would it not pay to spend a few hundred thousand a year "advertising safety" - telling people what "not to do?"

Would it not pay every city —this city—to run newspaper advertising warning people against carelessness?

Such advertising would yield great returns in property and lives saved.

It would pay for itself in lowered insurance rates before many years. Why not?

Real Worth vs. Low Cost

If you asked your butcher for a porterhouse steak and he handed you a cut of the flank and said, "This doesn't cost as much and is just as good, " you wouldn't believe him, would you?

Yet the butcher's statement is just as truthful as the assertion that inferior baking powders made of alum or phosphate of lime are as good as Royal, which is made from cream of, tartar.

Alum is a mineral acid salt, declared by many medical authorities unsafe to use in food.

Royal Baking Powder is as pure and wholesome as the vineyard grapes from which its cream of tartar is derived.

The only reason for using such substitutes as alum and lime phosphate is because their cost is less to the manufacturer.

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmaey. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless. (Advertisement.)

HOOSIER HISTORY

(Prepared for the United Press by the Centennial Department of he Indiana Historical Commission.) Friend of the Soldier.

Morton was as energetic in looking after the welfare of the soldier n the service as he was in getting hem to enlist. When he found Indiana troops to be suffering from cold, he bombarded the government or overcoats and even went east on shopping tours of his own to secure them. He appealed to the patriotic women of Indiana to prepare clothing comforts for the soldiers. He sent agents to follow up the armies, to help the disabled, visit the hospital, aid in getting supplies to the soldiers and to look after their general welfare. There was good reason for the unbounded confidence and devotion, which Indiana troops gave their war governor.

Speaker at Marketing Conference Declares we Are Approaching Landlord Ownership

RESEMBLES FEUDAL TIMES

Standardization of Products Necessary as an Accurate Basis of Price Quotations

(By United Press.) Chicago, Ill., Nov. 30.-"The gradual tendency of this country is toward landlord ownership of land" Charles W. Holman, secretary, today told the third national conference on marketing and farm credits. "The condition is threatening to become almost as complicated during feudal times," Holman continued. "Men live in luxury, in cities, with mony made with the labor of tenants. The condition is leading this country to an unfortunate economic condition-almost as unfortunate as the condition from which Ireland was just pulled."

Ireland, he said, has been led from the oppression of its land lords. England passed a law permitting the British government to buy lands from the landlords. Then they resold the land to Irish farmers under terms the farmers could bear. A new system of agriculture and marketing has further aided Ireland to become prosperous, he said.

More than 700 delegates representing 38 states, were in attendance at the second day's session today. The conference will end Thurs-

He became suspicious of all of us and often accused mother of trying to poison him. She used to have to taste his food before he would touch it." After her second marriage, when she and her husband went to live on her father's farm, her mother died, said Mrs. Smith, and after that her father, she declared, coninued, his drinking and threats.

On one occasion, she declared, he lay awake all night, fearing tha he would murder the family. She told her fears to her husband, she said, and they grew accustomed to lock the door of their room.

On another occasion, she testified, her father, at table one evening, began cutting an imaginary something on his plate, muttering "I'll do it tonight. I must do it tonight." She said that her father finally became a victim of delirium tremens.

All this and a dozen or more similar incidents were laid before the jury before Mr. Spaan, questioning the witness, reached the climax of office stated today. W. G. "My husband started across the floor toward papa and I heard another shot. I screamed and started over toward papa. 'My God papa's shot,' I cried. Then I heard someone coming and ran out in the road and stopped him, I don't know who he was. I don't remember what else happened that

"That is all," said Mr. Spaan. Attorney Charles S. Wiltsie of Indianapolis, who assisted Prosecutor Rucker of Marion county, for the state, subjected Mrs. Smith to a vigorous cross-examination, seeking to break down her testimony regarding the fear that her father's action inspired in others. Mrs. Smith clung to her story tenaciously, however, insisting that she was in deadly fear of her father ever since childhood.

The defense earlier in the day introduced character testimony from number of Rushville citizens, who have known Smith since he was a boy in and about Rushville. After Mrs. Smith left the stand Mrs. Frances Porter Smith, mother of the defendant, was questioned briefly about her son's early life. She is a frail little woman, about 70 years old, and sat weeping in a corner of the court room throughout the day.

The case is expected to go to the jury Wednesday evening. Smith will testify tomorrow in his own behalf and his cross-examination is ikely to be prolonged. The state, it is understood, intends to introduce rebuttal testimony tomorrow in an attempt to impeach the evidence of Mrs. Smith, and the closing arguments will he heard Wednesday.

Much interest has been aroused in the case here and the court room was crowded all day.

Included in the rebuttal testimony it was indicated, will be evidence regarding the dead man's provision for his daughter, who, with her younger brother, inherited the farm, which is appraised at about $24,000.

Popular sentiment in Noblesville appears to be strongly for the defendant. Smith is permitted to walk about the court room freely, and at | noon recess even is permitted to walk, unguarded, with his counsel, to offices across the street from the Court House. He is held in jail, however, without bond, at night.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside

Paris, Nov. 30.—France called boys of eighteen to the colors today. S The chamber of deputies passed a bill providing for such a call and 250,000 youths are now subject to 5 military service. They represent the class of 1917.

War Minister Gallieni has promised to use them on the firing line only in ease they are imperatively needed. Few, however, are hopeful enough to believe that this need will arise soon. It is expected six months at the outset may see them in the trenches. The Socialists fought the call hard. They sought to delay it until at least next year. But General Gallieni said the boys could no longer be spared. The chamber of deputies accepted his word and passed the vote.

Gallieni promised to take every possible sanitary precaution to protect the health of the country's last offering of her young manhood. Every article of clothing and equipment with which the lads will be scientific inspection.

Good Fellows Are Organized This Year as Usual to Prevent Tragedy of Empty Stocking.

This is to show that all the Good Fellows are not dead.

The Goodfellows League is still alive. Last summer's suns and this winters northern blasts have been neither too hot nor to cold to dampen the ardor of the Goodfellows of Rushville and Rush county who plan this year, as in years past, to see that the little folks of Rushville, who are without prospect of a happy Christmas, shall be made merry at the glad season of the

Several of the Good Fellows, charter members of the League, have inquired already this year if the League is still in good running order, if its radiator is frozen up or something of the sort. The reply has invariably been that the League is on the alert and ready to serve the litle ones who are doomed to disappointment on Christmas morning if some friendly Good Fellow does not come to their aid.

Several charitable women have rolunteered their services this year to investigate cases and get the nams, ages and addresses of children in homes where there is small probability of them having a surprise in store on the morning of the day that is the anniversary of the birth of Christ. They have gladly offered their services, but one or two more would be of much service to the League if they would volunteer because they would greatly lessen the work of those who have already agreed to help.

It is requested by the League that any persons who contemplate making possibly a merry Christmas for some children call the he was forty years old. Yet the ontcher's statement is just as truthful as the assertion that inferior baking powders made of alum or phosphate of lime are as good as Royal, which is made from cream of tartar.

Alum is a mineral acid salt, declared by many medical authorities unsafe to use in food.

Royal Baking Powder is as toure and wholesome as the vineyard grapes from which its cream of, tartar is derived.

The only reason for using such substitutes as alum and lime phosphate is because their cost is less to the manufacturer.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boilings water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegctable, therefore harmless.

"The purpose - of an educational enrvey," declares the bulletin, "is to bring about a-more economic use of money and equipment, and a better adaptation of educational agencies to educational needs."

The scope of the foreign survey s generally wider and looks less to local conditions than the American survey, so the bulletin says. The foreign survey differs also from the American in that it is always made under Government auspices. The findings, therefore, carry with them the weight of Government authority. "In the schools these findings are conclusive, and by the general pub-

The Prodigal Father 4 has

The parable of the prodigal son is one of the most familiar and one of the most admired in Scripture. Everybody knows it; everybody understands it; and everybody approves it heartily. Millions of sermons have been preached from it; and, whenever such a sermon was preached, some father has turned his gaze on some son who by some miracle had been lured to church and has said with a glance if not with words, "Now, my son, you see what comes from riotous living."

This is not intended to be a defense of the son: He deserved to be made to cat wheatstraw while he was away and veal when he got home. But not all the wasting of care for the smaller children. Not substance is being done by the heir a bad idea for local consumption. the family: sometimes father is guilty of a little wasting himself is

Father also has a patrimony in which the son may be pardoned for having some interest. He may have a farm that is growing good crops, a skill that pays him good wages; and he has a part ownership in the town in which, or 541,486, the number of boys taking nearest which, he lives. He may have contributed much or little to that town or that community. But, no matter how much or how little, his residence in that neighborhood entitles him to reap those benefits.

The town and the community are as much a part of his estate as his farm or his house. Money has but one value, after all: its only value is to provide us with the necessities and comforts and pleasures of life and to insure our old age. Likewise the community provides us with many of those pleasures and comforts. When a man hurts the town or the community or does nothing to help it, he is wasting his substance just as much as the son who wasted it in rictous living.

If you are a son, and your lath er sends his money away to the mail-order houses, to the detriment of the town; if he does nothing for the town and the community and is not interested in movements for tháir welfare; if he is devoting no time to making this a more pleas-nighte and more comfortable town to feeling then faller is a prodigal

The Tariff And Politics

The Saturday Evening Post wants to know if the tariff can be "got out of politics." It most certainly ean not so long as power is vested in congress by the United States: constitution to regulate the tariff. And just so long as human beings exisit in America, they will discuss the tariff because it is a domestic question that affects every home in America. Taking the tariff out of polities would mean an amendment of the constitution. That could not of three-lourths of the states. Talk of "taking the tariff out of politics by means of a non-partisan tariff commission" is all rot. It will be in politics because it is a politic question. No public question can be settled by the people unlesso they have the opportunity to vote on it. The political party is the organization that is the vehicle to take the question to the people. That is not to say that a tariff commission would not be a good thing.

Republican Organization Will Meet to Fix Date For Convention and to Discuss Primary.

ALSO TO PLAN LOVE FEAST

(Special to the Daily Republican.) Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 30.-Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican state central committee, today issued a call for a meeting of the committee to be held at state headquarters in the Hotel Severin at 1 p. m. next Friday afternoon, Dec. 3. It is understood that this will be one of the most important meetings the committee has held in many months as one of the questions to come up will be of fixing the date of the next Republican state convention. Under the new primary law the state convention must be held within 150 days after the primary and the date must be set by the state committee before the primary is held. In other words, the Republican state convention must be held on some date between March 7th and August 7th.

"The purpose of the meeting" said Chairman Hays "Is to fix the date of the state convention, complete the plans for the statewide love feast to be held in Indianapolis on Dec. 29 and to discuss the method of getting the necessary information to the precinct committeemen and party workers as to the operation of the new primary law. be done without the expressed will The things necessary to be done unof congress and the favorable vote der the law will all be new, of course, and we think it is important that all the party workers be advised as fully as possible about it. We are receiving many letters at headquarters every day from the MIRITARIAN MIRITARIA committeemen asking what has to be done. There are some plans yet to complete also about the love feast which it seems now is going to be the biggest demonstration the party has ever held on a sumlar occasion."

HOOSIER HISTORY

(Prepared for the United Press by the Centennial Department of the Indiana Historical Commission.) Friend of the Soldier.

Morton was as energetic in looking after the welfare of the soldier in the service as he was in getting them to enlist. When he found Indiana troops to be suffering from cold, he bombarded the government for overcoats and even went east on shopping tours of his own to secure them. He appealed to the patriotic women of Indiana to prepare clothing comforts for the soldiers. He sent agents to follow up the armies, to help the disabled, visit the nos pital, aid in getting supplies to the soldiers and to look after their with five in every thousand 15 years general welfare. There was good reason for the unbounded confidence and devotion, which Indiana troops gave their war governor.

Speaker at Marketing Conference Declares we Are Approaching Landlord Ownership

RESEMBLES FEUDAL TIMES

Standardization of Products Necessary as an Accurate Basis of Price Quotations

(By United Press.)

Chiengo, Ill., Nov. 30.—"The gradual tendency of this country is toward landlord ownership of land Charles W. Holman, secretary, today told the third national conference on marketing and farm credits:

"The condition is threatening to ecome almost as complicated a during feudal times," Holman continued. "Men live in luxury, in cities, with mony made with the labor of tenants. The condition is leading this country to an unfortunate economic condition—almost as unfortunate as the condition from which [reland was just pulled."

from the oppression of its land lords. England passed a law permitting the British government to buy lands from the landlords. Then they resold the land to Irish farmers under terms the formers could bear. A new system of agriculture and marketing has further aided Ireland to become prosperous, he said.

More than 700 delegates representing 38 states, were in attendance at the second day's session today. The conference will end Thursday evening.

Standardization of farm prolucts as to quality and size and type of products is necessary as an accurate basis of price quotations. Charles J. Brand, chief of the bureau of markets, of the department of agriculture, told the conference today. He said accuracy of standards in selling products means a smaller margin between the price paid by the customer and the price paid by the producer. Poor qualities and ungraded products are ruinous to the whole market, he maintained. Failure to standardize packages, he said, afforded opportunity for dishonesty. That standardization of containers is a proper subject for federal legislation, was his contention.

W. G. Scholtz, director of the daho department of markets. That the idea of state assistance in farm marketing has come to stay was his stated belief. He detailed how the Idaho department of markets told the conference why Idaho creatmisrepresentations. The third function of the bureau, marketing farm products, is more gigantic in its scope, and slower to get under way, he said. Frank L. McVey, chairman of the conference, in welcoming the delegates last night declared co-operative marketing forecasts agricultural prosperity. Millard R. Meyers, editor of the AmericanCo-operative Journal, said farmers co-operative markets had been universally successful, and their failures not com-

Ireland, he said, has been led bottles scattered about the farm.

"There was one barrel full of bottles in the henhouse," she said Another behind the henhouse. And he hid another in a field by burying it, and sold another barrel of bottles to a peddler. He became suspicious of all of us and often accused mother of trying to poison him. She used to have to taste his food before he would touch it."

After her second marriage, when she and her husband went to live on her father's farm, her mother died, said Mrs. Smith, and after that her father, she declared, continued, his drinking and threats.

On one occasion, she declared, she lay awake all night, fearing that he would murder the family. She told her fears to her husband, ske said, and they grew accustomed to lock the door of their room.

On another occasion, she testified her father, at table one evening, began cutting an imaginary something on his plate, muttering "I'll do it tonight. I must do it tonight." She said that her father finally became a victim of delirium tremens.

All this and a dozen or more similar incidents were laid before the jury before Mr. Spaan, questioning the witness, reached the climax of her testimony. Mrs. Smith broke down and cried once when she told in the act of choking her mother. He figure seriously in the fighting. was drunk then, she said.

"My husband," said Mrs. Smith, "did the milking and I heard him whistling as he came to the house from the barn. Father was sitting on a chair at the side of the kitchen table. When my husband entered he put the milk in the pantry and came and stood opposite me, where I was working at the kitchen range. Suddenly my father sprang up and started toward me, with an oath on his lips."

The witness paused and began sobbing. It was with a great effort that she continued, forcing herself to complete her story, and unconsciously raising her voice as she concluded:

"Then—my husband—shot him:" Mrs. Smith paused again and then resumed, talking faster and louder than she had at any time previously.

"My husband started across the floor toward papa and I heard an other shot. I screamed and started over toward papa: My God papa

Then I heard someone coming and ran out in the road and stopped him. I don't know who he was. I don't remember what else happened that night."...

"That is all," said Mr. Spaan. Attorney Charles S. Wiltsie of Indianapolis, who assisted Prosecutor Rucker of Marion county, for the state, subjected Mrs. Smith to a vigorous cross-examination, seeking to break down her testimony regarding the fear that her father's action inspired in others. Mrs. Smith clung to her story tenacionsly, however, insisting that she was in deadly fear of her father ever since childhood.

The defense earlier in the day introduced character testimony from n number of Rushville citizens, who have known Smith since he was a boy in and about Rushville. After Mrs. Smith left the stand Mrs. Frances Porter Smith, mother of the defendant, was questioned briefly about her son's early life. She is a frail little woman, about 70 years old, and sat weeping in a corner of the court room throughout

The case is expected to go to the jury Wednesday evening. Smith will testify tomorrow in his own behalf and his cross-examination is likely to be prolonged. The state, it is understood, intends to introduce rebuttal testimony tomorrow in an attempt to impeach the evidence of Mrs. Smith, and the closing arguments will be heard Wednesday.

Much interest has been aroused in the case here and the court room was crowded all day.

Included in the rebuttal testimony it was indicated, will be evidence regarding the dead man's provision for his daughter, who, with her younger brother, inherited the farm, which is appraised at about $24,000.

Popular sentiment in Noblesville appears to be strongly for the defendant. Smith is permitted to walk about the court room freely, and at noon recess even is permitted to walk, unguarded, with his counsel. to offices across the street from the Court House. He is held in jail, however, without bond, at night.

Judge Howe Holds There Are Ques tions in Case of Hamburg-Of-# ficials for Jury to Decide.

AGREES ON SOME POINTS

(By United Press.)

New York, Nov. 30 .- Judge Howe this afternoon overruled the motion of the attorneys for the defense to dismiss the indictment against four Hamburg-American officials charged with illegally supplying German warships from American ports.

"There are certain phases of the case that I believe a jury should pass upon," said Judge Howe after hearing a lengthy argument of at-

The court's ruling was a severe blow to the defense. Earlier in the day Judge Howe had refused to strike from the records evidence in which the name of Captain Boy-ed, German naval attache, had been mentioned in connection with a steamer. His refusal to direct an acquital was a surprise to the Hamburg-American counsel. They had admitted handling out supplies is to German commerce raiders but had denied their acts constituted a conspiracy against the United States.

Judge Howe agreed with defense counsel that the shipment of supplies to German warships at ,sea and the voyages of neutral vessels for that purpose were legal. Chamber of Deputies Today Passing Bill Sending Youths of Eighteen to Arms.

SOCIALISTS FIGHT HARD

(By United Press.)

Paris, Nov. 30.—France called boys of eighteen to the colors today. The chamber of deputies passed a bill providing for such a call and 250,000 youths are now subject to military service. They represent the class of 1917.

War Minister Gallieni has promised to use them on the firing line only in case they are imperatively needed. Few, however, are hopeful enough to believe that this need will arise soon. It is expected six months at the outset may see them in the trenches. The Socialists fought the call hard. They sought to delay it until at least next year. But General Gallieni said the boys could no longer be spared. The chamber of deputies accepted his word and passed the vote.

Gallieni promised to take every possible sanitary precaution to proteet the health of the country's last offering of her young manhood. 2 Every article of clothing and equipment with which the lads will be scientific inspection.
